Bunnings BBQ December 1st

Once again we had a very busy day selling the famed 'snags' with onion preceding it into the roll. Despite worries about having a full roster for the day everyone came through and we had no shortage of staff and so we were able to have breaks(unlike some other days). The executive did not need to stay the entire day and this was a real bonus. We made our best profit of $1730.00 for future purchases with the club in 2019 onwards. Got any ideas on what we would need to acquire next?

Christmas Luncheon Dec 1st

Once again John Oakey saved the day by letting me help him decorate the hall on the day before. Better still John was able to attend as did many others and their partners. Jan (from the Guides) and her partner came along and met us and had a very enjoyable time as did we all.

There was plenty of food thanks to everyone's efforts once again. The lucky door prize tickets were(in true woodworking club fashion) recycled sandpaper as the other tickets were ensconced deep in the opposite corner of the club storeroom(I think or I couldn't find them).

President Daniel also had wing surgery a few days before and is seen below sporting his sling which is gone in the January Lifetime Awards photos.

Life membership Awards

Some members give a long time of service to a club or organisation and both Ray Barrett and Ian Griffiths have done this for our club. As such we awarded them Life Membership of the club. Ray was presented his award but I goofed the photo so we re-presented it to him with Ian at the later Saturday workshop.

Unfortunately, Ian was unable to attend after having serious heart surgery earlier in November. The pictures below show Ian and Ray receiving their Lifetime Membership awards in the January Saturday Workshop.

Club Challenge entries and results

Once again we had a range of interesting entries demonstrating what you do with a 'straight' plank, some tools and imagination over a few months. Similarly, most of us 'non-boxmakers' did our best but to no avail, the judges whims and the judging criteria did it again with Phil tonks winning the John Rankine Shield once again.

Phil T's winning entry

Well that's it for the moment. Please let me have any useful contributions for this publication.
